

Revised: 10/1/2017
 Approved: 10/1/2017
 Approved: 10/1/2017

1111

7. Which response is the most likely to be correct?

A. The data is likely to be correct because it is based on a large sample size. (N = 1000) ...

B. The data is likely to be correct because it is based on a large sample size and the results are consistent with the results of other studies.

C. The data is likely to be correct because it is based on a large sample size and the results are consistent with the results of other studies.

D. The data is likely to be correct because it is based on a large sample size and the results are consistent with the results of other studies.

Strona 7